

A SPECTACULAR CELEBRATION OF A CLASSIC INDIAN TALE TOLD THROUGH MUSIC, DANCE, STORYTELLING
& SPECIAL EFFECTS

TORCHLIGHT PERFORMANCE

WE WANT YOU!

walk the plank

BE PART OF THE LARGEST PIECE OF OUTDOOR THEATRE EVER TO TAKE PLACE IN BELFAST CITY CENTRE!

Nine Nights is a captivating and spectacular piece of outdoor theatre telling the story of a land ruled by fear and torn apart by war.

Rallying to create a togetherness and a need for peace and prosperity, It's people stand behind a women, a true Warrior capable of eliminating suffering. Only on succeeding they all find there lies an even greater battle.

Featuring 1,000 local participants and expected to attract an audience of 15,000 people, this celebration of good over evil takes it's inspiration from the Hindu celebration Navratri with compelling text, choreographed movement, puppetry and dance, featuring pyrotechnics and special effects backed with live music and dynamic sound & lighting design.

The event take place on evening of the 24th October 2015 and will last for around 1.5 hours. It will consist of a torchlight procession from Custom House Square to City Hall, followed by a bespoke show on the grounds of City Hall.

The event is presented by ArtsEkta, who bring you the Belfast Mela, and produced by Walk the Plank.

Visit www.ninenights.co.uk for more information on the show.

Overview

As part of the opening to the show there is an opportunity for up to 100 local participants to take part in the torchlight performance

Each participant over 16 years will be given two wax torches to hold which produce a small lit flame and a small movement piece en masse with 50 live drummers which will be a key moment of the show.

The rehearsals for the performance are as follows:

- Thursday 22nd October, 5pm-10pm at City Hall
- Friday 23rd October, 5pm-8.30pm at City Hall
- Saturday 24th October, 5pm - show time

If you are interested in taking part in this unique show, developing new skills and meeting new people please contact us Amy McFarlane by emailing amy@ektaevents.org.uk or telephone 028 90231 381 to discuss further.